Dear Siva,

Congratulations! We are pleased to admit you to the Santa Clara University Graduate School of Engineering MS Program in Computer Science and Engineering for the Fall 2017 Quarter. For scheduling purposes please note that classes will begin on September 18, 2017.

Below are items that need your immediate attention. Please read and follow up appropriately:

> To confirm your intent to enroll at the School of Engineering Graduate Programs, please log into Ecampus with your ID and Password at https://ecampus.scu.edu and accept admission and pay the $300.00 NON-REFUNDABLE enrollment deposit by June 30, 2017. This will enable you to have access to register for Fall classes starting the week of July 17th 2017 and begin the process of issueing your I-20. The last day to submit I-20 Documents is September 1, 2017.

> If you are unable to attend please email me at stinker@scu.edu, providing your full name, Ecampus ID number and the future term you wish to defer to.

> New Student Orientation will be held on Wednesday, September 20, 2017 at 12:00 p.m.

> Your faculty advisor is Dr. Hayang Kim. We encourage you to contact Professor Kim at hykim@scu.edu to get acquainted and to discuss your future coursework.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact the Graduate School of Engineering at: (408) 554-4313.

Again, congratulations on your admission and welcome to Santa Clara University!

Sincerely,

Stacey Tinker

Dear Vairavan Sivaraman:

Congratulations! The Faculty and Graduate Admissions Committee of the School of Computing at the University of Utah are delighted to offer you admission to our MS program in Computer Science starting Fall 2014.[1] We congratulate you on your fine academic record. (Unfortunately, we are not able to offer you financial support.)

Please let us know whether you accept our offer of admission before April 15th, 2014 by replying to Ann Carlstrom, Graduate Advisor (annc@cs.utah.edu).

If you would like more information about our School, courses, or research projects, please visit our web page at http://www.cs.utah.edu. Information about life in Salt Lake City can be found by clicking on the "About the School" link, http://www.utah.edu/about/, and on the "About Salt Lake City" link, http://www.utah.com/saltlake/. In particular, please notice the cost of living index calculator, so you can compare Salt Lake with other cities. The departmental Graduate Student Advisory Committee (GradSAC) is also available to answer any questions that you may have (gradsac@cs.utah.edu); their student-run web page is located at http://www.cs.utah.edu/gradsac.

We look forward to having you join our department. If there is anything further we can do for you, do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Professor Matthew Flatt
